2003 Holiday Cruise
 Voyage Number 418
 Dec 21 - Dec 28, 2003

Captain Arjen van der Loo

Born in Nieuwer-Amstel, a village wedged between Amsterdam and Schiphol Amsterdam International Airport, Arjen saw for the first time, ships sailing through the harbor. His father took him regularly to the Sea-Locks near IJmuiden, where the large ships transit from the salty North Sea to the fresh water harbor of Amsterdam. He was often looking at the horizon and wondering what was behind it. Following 4 years of Nautical College in Vlissingen, the Netherlands, Arjen first set out to sea on board an expedition vessel, exploring the west coast of Africa and the Orinoco River delta in Venezuela. After his return he joined Holland America Line as a 4th officer. Climbing up the ranks rapidly, Arjen enjoyed sailing on many of the longer Grand Voyages, including 6 World cruises on board the s.s. Rotterdam, m.s. Rotterdam and m.s. Amsterdam. He loves sailing the Holland America Line ships, because it lets him combine his two most favorite activities, meeting all kinds of people and seeing the wonderful places in this remarkable world. When not sailing the seven seas, he loves to read books, meet his friends, cook delicious meals, train for a marathon next year, master his pc, enjoy wine tasting at the vineyards surrounding his house and of course spend quality time with his wife, Holly.

Holland America's logo

In the early part of the 17th Century, Henry Hudson set sail from Holland in a tiny ship called "de Halve Maen." His long voyage across the Atlantic heralded the beginning of Dutch exploration and settlements in the New World. During this century's great era of Trans-Atlantic elegance, Holland America's beloved Nieuw Amsterdam II (1938-1973) came to represent all the luxury, magnificence and splendor of that time. Our emblem shows this famous flagship alongside "de Halve Maen". Together, these two ships symbolize the centuries old seafaring tradition of the Dutch and the long standing friendship between Holland and America.
